

Terms used in official statistics

Net migration for permanent residence

Definition:

Difference in the number of people who arrived for permanent residence to the given administrative unit/country during a given period of time and the number of people who left the given administrative unit/country during this period of time in order to live permanently in the other unit/country.

Low-level terms:

- Net migration per 1000 population

Contact person on methodology:

GUS - Departament Badań Demograficznych

e-mail: Sekretariat-BD@stat.gov.pl