Prices of arable land in private turnover

Definition:

The average prices of purchase/sale transaction and rent of arable land for agricultural purposes made on the respondent`s farm or in his neighborhood.

Information on private-market purchase/sale and lease prices for arable land is obtained through a semi-annual interview conducted by a surveyor with the operator of an individual farm selected for representative agricultural surveys. Until 2025, average arable land prices were calculated as the arithmetic mean of average quarterly prices. From 2026, average arable land prices are calculated as weighted averages based on average quarterly prices and land area, broken down by region and land category. Data on land area comes from the current structure of farms.
